	7	NOTE: It is merely assumed William was the sone of Peter de Wyckhurst. He was the first one in Surrey to carry the name "Attewode". The name "Wyckhurst" translated would mean "house of Wood", and in later years the owners of "The Hooley House" were "Atte Wodes". The Hooley House estate was purchased in 1203 by Peter de Wyckhurst from the Abbey of Chertsey. William being an adult in 1278 probably with several years of maturity would be in the correct generation to be a son of Peter.
